An upward movement in T bill rates was seen in September due to increase in government borrowings. One year Treasury bill rate increased to 9.51% in September from 8.99% last month. A marginal increase in weighted average prime lending rate (AWPLR) was seen during the month reflecting a recovery in private sector credit growth. AWPLR increase to 11.74% from 11.67% in last month.

Heavy foreign selling in the government security market was witnessed in September following the 25 basis points rate hike in US. Foreign ownership of government securities decline to Rs.249.4 billion (approximate USD 1.48 billion) from 277.4 billion in the previous month. As a result the secondary market bond rates increased approximately 80 – 100 basis point. Crude oil prices are trending upward anticipating a short fall in supply if US impose trade sanctions on Iran which can create upward pressure on inflation and import growth. WTI crude oil price has surge to USD 76.41 on 4th October 2018, up from USD 69.87 on 4th September 2018. On this backdrop Sri Lankan rupee depreciated by 4.8% to 169.2383.

Gross official reserves are at healthy levels at USD 8.6 billion as at 31st August 2018 equivalent to 5 months imports. However, during the next 3 months period the expected net drain in foreign reserves is around USD 1.269 billion (both principal & interest payments) and USD 505 million is yet to be received from the remaining tranches of IMF extended funding facility and another USD 1.8 billion SLDBs can be issued as per the budget.

Considering the current economic slowdown and healthy foreign reserve base, Central Bank decided to maintained the policy rates at current levels (7.25%-8.50%) on 2nd October 2018 in order to protect economic growth. Since US has indicated another 25 basis point rate hike in this year we feel that the Sri Lankan rates should adjust upwards to avoid further foreign exits in government security market and to curtail import growth. Unless the Sri Lankan Rupee could depreciate at a faster rate.
